End-of-Life Notification
CPC2400E

June 22, 2017

To Our Valued Customers:

As part of our ongoing product lifecycle management process, IXYS Integrated Circuits Division has transitioned the following products to an “End-of-Life” status. This decision was based on the review of historical unit shipments, and product revenue performance.

Products transitioning to End-of-Life will be available for 90 days or until existing inventory is depleted. Attached are the details of the product obsolescence. The following product identified for obsolescence by this notice is the:

- CPC2400E Embedded Modem Module

For additional design support, please contact applications engineering:
